

SHE'S HANDSOME as a Rose.

OR SHE WAS SUCH A CHARMER.

The music can be obtained at the well-known Music-Store of Frederick BLUME, 208 Bowery, New-York.

I'll sing to you a song,
And try to please you all :
It's about a yellow charmer
I met at a fancy ball ;
She was handsome as a rose,
Her eyes were black as sloes :
And when upon her I did gaze,
She stole my heart away.
Chorus : Oh ! she was such a charmer !
I had her for a partner ;
She was handsome as a rose,
Her eyes were black as sloes :
And when upon her I did gaze,
She stole my heart away.

Now, I will her describe
As I met her at the ball :
She'd a boxing glove upon her head,
Meant for a water-fall ;
Her waist was tall and slender,
Her feet like a giraffe :
And when she took a promenade,
She made the darkies laugh. Chorus.

I took her to her home
And lingered at the door :
Oh ! there I felt so happy, as
I'd never felt before !
I asked her mine to be :
She only gave a smile ..
But her eyes they pierced me thro' and thro' ..
I know she'll yet be mine. Chorus.
